Angry Vs The Bear is frantic - It's noisy - It's fizzy electro pop/punk. This Essex four-piece are exploding onto the International music scene with the release of their debut single Show Emotion produced by the Grammy Award winning Simon Gogerly (U2 & Gwen Stephanie) and recent support slots for Florence & The Machine, Reverend and The Makers, Dirty Pretty Things and The Hoosiers.

Its been just 18 short months since Angry Vs The Bear formed and they've already caused a stir at the SXSW festival in Texas where they were voted Gibson's # 1 Band of the Festival and played to a sold-out crowd that spilled far into the street.

Following on from this success, the band were then selected to showcase at the CMJ Music

Marathon festival in New York last October and have now been invited back to do a further session at SXSW this March.

The band is fronted by feisty front woman Mitzi Fox who challenges us with lyrics like "Pick your gloves up baby, there's a fight on" sung over a driving electro riff that melts effortlessly into the chorus hook.

Big things are on the way for Angry Vs The Bear who are set to storm the country with their eccentric blend of female fronted electro-pop. The band have been building on their fanbase and are embarking on a 12 date UK tour to promote Show Emotion, followed by a run of 13 dates supporting the Leeds based Pop/Punk rock band Summerlin.

Check their myspace for dates and make sure you catch them at one of their upcoming shows
