After a jam-packed year of touring & promoting debut single London Town is Falling Down, guitar duo Black Bikini Alpha now unleash their debut album Grand Madness, and from it the second single Kicking & Screaming. It's an uncompromising slab of power-chord heaven and electronics steeped in lyrical imagery that takes the listener to that special place. If you haven't already heard it, chuck on the CD & see what all the fuss is about!

Following the success of London Town is Falling Down (BBC 6 Tom Robinson, Kerrang & 'Best debut of the year so far' Fuse Mag) the band come off the TourDates M4 Tour to hit straight back with the vampy, electro-punk Kicking & Screaming that has already been picked by DC Shoes for a worldwide advertising campaign.

The track is sure to hit all the right notes with rock, synth-pop & Indie fans alike. To accompany the band's charged soundtrack, we have a video fresh from the edit suite, depicting a lustful tale of "cat and mouse" in a classic horror pastiche!

Other tracks from the Grand Madness album like the anthemic "Reason To Believe" and "Goodbye To All the Cynics" are pitched against angst-ridden tracks "Nightmare" and "Swag". The duo's un-stoppable energy on record is reflected in their live shows, which have included dates with Feeder & the Fun Loving Criminals, as well as being one of the last bands to play the legendary CBGBs in New York.

Black Bikini Alpha are UK rock at its best. Get involved & say you were there from the beginning!
