"There's a great soulful feel to River Child's music" - Baylen Leonard / Amazing Radio

With a name inspired by a Jimi Hendrix album lying around his room, Hertfordshire born singer-songwriter River Child releases his Lone City Lights EP this spring - A four-track release that showcases his distinctive vocal style with its rich timbre and self-assured melodies.

Having already gained support from Amazing Radio's Baylen Leonard having performed live on his show The Front Porch, the new EP represents River Child's story so far which looks set to win him new audiences in 2015.

Title track Lone City Nights was inspired after a chance meeting with a homeless girl, which sparked a level of empathy and reflection on how he might have coped in the same situation. Second track Start Over Again focuses on renewal, how each time a door closes a new opportunity presents itself, whilst Days Like These deals with how life's hardships can alter our perceptions. The EP's closing track, Just Need Your Love tells of solely requiring the purity of a relationship, setting aside irrelevant needs.

While growing up River Child would listen attentively to his father playing a whole mix of guitar styles ranging from Jimi Hendrix style blues and Dylan tracks through to classical guitar pieces. Eventually the inevitable happened and an inspired River Child picked up the guitar himself. Initially motivated by mainstream Britpop artists such as Oasis and The Verve, he soon gravitated towards more folk/acoustic influences as his songwriting took off, gaining inspiration from artists like Neil Young and Simon & Garfunkel for his composition whilst Van Morrison and Paul Simon shaped his vocal style.

Although always soaking up the creativity in the world around him - be it art, film theatre or music, River Child has also had as stint in the ring as a boxer. However, focusing on music now acts as his main outlet.

There are gigs being planned for spring/summer 2015 where River Child will be performing the EP with more tracks set to appear on his upcoming album later this year. For more details please visit his website.
